Powerful Voices

Connecticut Women Changing Democracy

Alice Paul

Elsie Hill

Redding's Own Suffragist

Isabella Hooker Stowe

Connecticut's history is filled with remarkable women who achieved extraordinary things. Join us to explore the inspirational stories of suffrage advocates like Elsie Hill, Alice Paul and Isabella Beecher Hooker.

Listen as Katherine Wiltshire, Executive Director of CWHF, presents an interactive multi-media program highlighting some of the state's powerful female voices for change in our democracy. Hear how prominent women like Ella Grasso and Denise Napier and social activists like Helen Keller, Anne Stanback and Estelle Griswold overcame obstacles to achieve their goals.

Our speaker holds a BA in History from Salem College and an MA in Women's Studies with a concentration in Women's History, from Southern Connecticut State University where she has served as an Adjunct Professor of Women's Studies. Katherine will share her expertise and her unwavering commitment to programming around women's issues
